Removu Quick Case sealed case for S1 gimbal provides easy access to the stabilizer and protects the device against dust, rain and mechanical damage. Removu is a solution for people who want to have their S1 gimbal always under their hands, ready to start filming. The size of the cover and its precisely contoured interior allow Removu S1 to be placed together with the camera mounted. Thanks to the rubber coating and the sealed seam, the Quick Case protects the stabilizer and the camera from the weather. Precisely contoured interior and stiffened structure minimizes the risk of equipment damage as a result of impact. Depending on the needs, the cover can be attached to the trousers belt, fixed to the backpack or attached in any way using the Remov bar supplied with the set. Inside the case there is a mesh pocket in which you can store a spare battery or other small accessories. The cover of the case is equipped with an additional hook for the karabiner (the hook is not included). Thanks to this, it is possible to leave the tilted or open case, which provides quick access to the stabilizer. This is especially useful in situations where the filmmaker has only one hand free.
